HEAVY SNOW FALLS THURSDAY, NOV. 21

Grenada Gets 4½ Inches Fall in First Snow of Winter. Unusual for This Season. Crops Damaged by Snow and Rains. Severe Winter Is Presaged.

The first snow of the season came on the night of November 21. It began to fall about 8 o'clock and continued through the night. It was still snowing when arising time came the next morning. Much of the first part of the snow melted quickly, but in a few hours the mercury had fallen enough to make it stick. It continued to fall at intervals the next day, until it measured a depth of four and one-half inches. The weather got colder and Friday, Saturday and Sunday were days of genuine winter weather. There was not much melting until Sunday, however there was much still unmelted on Monday.

Nobody seems to recall a snow of the depth of this one in November. It was unusual. Many who are inclined to prophesy about the weather assert that a November snow with the cold that followed presages a severe winter.

Nature's artist is the greatest one. He seems to be ever excelling himself. But no scene ever existed that is more appealing or that is grander and more sublime in appearance than that of the earth wrapped in a blanket of snow. The snow of November, 1929, made a feast for the eye. It was entrancing to the soul. The limbs of the trees were bending under a burden of white and yet from this burden there could be read a thousand messages of gladness, cheer and comfort.

Following the snow, it rained. It began to rain slightly Monday morning and continued at intervals through the day; late in the afternoon it increased in volume and continued all through the night. The snow and the rain following, which came close on the heels of a week's rain, bring a note of discouragement to the farmer who still has cotton in the patch and corn in the field. It would seem that it takes no gifts of a prophet to see that much of the cotton still in the field is destined not to be picked, particularly is this true of the delta section where in so many places water stands in the cotton rows after heavy rains.

In this immediate locality probably not over 10 per cent of the cotton crop is yet unpicked but in the delta, there is fully 25 per cent of the crop still in the fields. But with this cotton unpicked, the farmer has a right to hope that which has been picked will bring a better price.

The rains and the snow covered pretty well the cotton belt, and figured on a basis of the crop that will remain in the fields and that has been greatly damaged by the rains, it may be asserted that Mississippi alone is a loser by a two million dollars because of the continuous rains.

On the other hand, where is there the one who would have had the snow not fall? It was a revelation of the power of the Creator and a reminder of his munificence to man. Mississippi is the better off because of the snow, when weighed by those scales which are the fiery test.

WATER VALLEY YOUNG MEN GUESTS AT CLUB MEETING

Jack Lamb, J. W. Holloway, E. K. Fly, E. L. Shelton, B. C. McCullar, B. W. McDonald and A. T. Honeycutt, all of Water Valley, were guests of the Grenada Young Men's Business Club at its meeting here last Thursday. A similar club is in process of organization in Water Valley and these gentlemen came here seeking pointers and information as to how they could best effect a permanent organization. Of the group, Mr. Fly acted as spokesman. He mentioned the cordial relations that have always existed between Grenada and Water Valley and he told how he thought the two towns could continue this friendly relation by cooperating for the good of North Mississippi. He expressed appreciation for himself and his fellow townsmen for the hospitality accorded them and said that he hoped his club could reciprocate at an early date.

The feature of Thursday's meeting was an address by A. M. Carothers, of the local bar, who had been asked to discuss a new hotel and a municipal swimming pool, two projects to which the club is devoting its major interests at this time. The speaker pointed out the advantages to be derived from each of these for the community and he said that he felt sure that the members of the organization would be able to realize the achievement of these goals.

The club executive committee has been giving attention to these two matters but as yet has made no report on either. It is expected that something definite will be learned before the club's next meeting, which is to be held Thursday, Dec. 5th.

Old and Distinguished Mississippian Speaks Yearnings of Heart for State

Honored Citizen Looks Down from Mountain Top of Long Experience and Tells What Every Thoughtful Mississippian Must Know if State Is to Go Forward.

Editor Sentinel:

As you know, I am getting to be an old man now. I have long since passed the Biblical span of life of three score years and ten, and I feel that for me "the curfew tolls the knell of parting days".

I have always loved my state, from early youth, even down to extreme old age, with a love that passeth all understanding. I have gloried with my State in her victories and wept with her in her defeats.

As I stand at the parting of the ways, the stirring events in the history of my state pass before me like the kaleidoscopic visions of a dream.

In happier days gone by I have seen Mississippi decked with wealth and beauty stand as a crowned queen among her sister states. I have seen her when the earthquake jar of contending hosts shook her hills and valleys and her plains ran red with the blood of her slaughtered sons. I have seen her, when like the Niobe of nations she sat childless and crownless in her voiceless woe; but always even in the hour of her deepest affliction, I have fondly dreamed that some day, phoenix like, she would arise from her ashes, and know again the pride of her old renown.

With prophetic vision, I have dreamed that some day I should see Mississippi's landscape dotted with schools and churches and busy factories, her bosom checkered with macadamized roads, and the iron arteries of commerce, her fields gleaming with rich and abundant harvest and her people once again prosperous, happy and free.

I believe that just now we are on the eve of a great industrial development in the South. Is it too much to hope that our people will lay aside factional bitterness and strife and make one united effort to place Mississippi in the front rank of the great movement for industrial development which is sweeping over the country? Surely as we are all the sons of our common mother, Mississippi, we can unite to promote her vital interest, in the hour of her sorest need.

If on account of the bitter strife and partizanship that exists just now, the hope of united action by our people is but an irridescent dream, may I not hope at least that at the next general election our people can unite upon some one of Mississippi's sons, who with no factional feeling, with no importunate friends to reward nor enemies to punish, can lead our beloved state onward and upward to higher and better things?

Why should not this consummation devoutly to be wished be accomplished? Why should not Mississippi take the lead in a great movement for moral, social, educational and industrial development?

We have a climate as genial as that of Italy. We have a soil that in parts, rivals in fertility the far famed valley of the Nile, and we belong to the purest blood of the Anglo-Saxon race, which has waved its victorious banners over every obstacle which it has ever encountered.

I firmly believe that there is an omniscient and omnipresent God who watches over the destiny of nations, and guides and directs the actions of men. That he may so direct our people as that my fondest dreams of Mississippi's greatness may come true, is the fervent prayer of your old time friend.

ROBERT POWELL.

Chinese Kids Will Have No Christmas

Minister in China Tells of Efforts in Bringing "Brownies" to Christ. Idolatry Taught from Infancy.

Editor Sentinel:

Christmas is coming before long when people feel as much like children as they ever do, and think as much about them, so let me tell you a bit about my kindly "Chinks" and my work among them.

Soon after coming to China I went with a missionary to see an idol temple. The missionary preached to the Buddhist priests. They didn't seem impressed with the message. The missionary said to me, "There is not much hope for these old priests. They are confirmed idol-worshipers." I was surprised at his remark, feeling God's Holy Spirit could convert even the hardened priests. Leaving the temple we had to pass through a great gatehouse. In it were four huge idol "gatekeepers," fierce, savage, ugly, with hands up-raised ready to strike any who might displease them. They did strike terror into a little child whose mother was bringing it into the temple to worship. As we were passing by the little one was screaming with fright; but the mother put the wee one's hands up and made it go through the acts of worship in spite of its terror.

Then I realized why the Chinese were confirmed idolaters. They are taught to worship idols even when babies. And I saw that our hope of winning China was not in preaching to the priests, though that must not be neglected; but was in getting the children. So, as soon as I could talk Chinese and a missionary lady suggested starting a Ragged Sunday School for the street kiddies not far from her home, I was ready to help. She asked the dairyman if we could have it in his shed. He consented, so we began our first Ragged S. S. Crowds of little people came. How they did delight to sing, "Ya-su-ai-ngo" (Jesus Loves Me). Many of that cow-shed Sunday School came to love Jesus and became useful members in the church.

When I came to Shanghai, and went about preaching, children a plenty were on the streets. I remembered that Sunday School and wanted these "yaller" people to have the same joys. I rented a room and started a Sunday School with no pupils! I stood inside and sang, "Jesus Loves Me." Children came to the door. I was glad and said, "Come in." The kiddies ran for home as fast as their legs could carry them! They had heard that foreigners use eyes and hearts of Chinese children to make medicine for western children. I sang again and big people came to listen. The wee ones took courage and peeped in. I talked of Jesus and His love for little and big people, and gave the kiddies cards, asked them to come again and bring their friends and I would give them all cards. Next Sunday ten came and the next 20, then 40 and soon my small room was full of "Brownies." They learned to sing and liked to sing and we literally sang the Gospel into their hearts. Now Jesus has lots of little friends in Shanghai. They do not run from me any more; but run to me shouting, "Jesus man coming," and grasping my fingers, lead me to the Sunday School.

I wish you could know my wee Brownies. I am sure you would love them as I do. Every Christmas I try to give them a jolly time, friends at home sending me money for their treat. Christmas is not far away and I am already getting ready for the glad day. No Chinese kiddies will hang up their stockings and no home will have a Christmas tree. Christmas will be cold and bare for millions of kiddies; but I like to bring brightness into the lives of more than 800 of my Brownies. They will delight as much in some foolish little toy as some grown-ups at home do in a motor car. When they receive the gifts their eyes sparkle and they say a sweet "Zia-zia Noong"-Thank, thank you. It pays in joy of giving and who knows how many little hearts will be opened to God's big Gift through these little gifts.

May you all have a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Yours in Christ's glad service,
H. G. C. HALLOCK.

FEDERAL JUDGE RULES ANYONE BUYING LIQUOR IS GUILTY OF A FELONY

Peoria, Ill., Nov. 21.—Any person who buys a drink of liquor, or knows of a friend, neighbor or relative who possesses liquor for beverage purposes is, unless he reports his knowledge to the United States government, a felon, Federal Judge Louis Fitzhenry held today in an opinion upholding the constitutionality of the Jones law.

The opinion, delivered in a liquor case here which did not involve a buyer, pointed out that an act passed by Congress in 1790 makes a felon of any person who knows of a felony and does not report it to the proper authorities, while the Jones law makes a felon of any person selling, transporting or possessing liquor.

Judge Fitzhenry held that under these two laws the buyer of liquor, or even the guest in a home where liquor is served, is equally guilty with the seller or possessor and subject to the same punishment. He observed that this phase of the Jones law had been generally overlooked.

Attorneys representing Bartley South, accused of selling liquor in 1927, contended the Jones act was unconstitutional, chiefly because it transferred from the jury to the judge the power to fix degrees of guilt. The court overruled them on the question.

CONSIDER ERECTION OF NEW HOTEL IN GRENADA

John L. Ware, manager of the Edwards Hotel in Jackson, and widely and favorably known all over Mississippi, and C. H. Lindsley, a well-known architect, also of Jackson, spent the day in Grenada Tuesday conferring with the executive committee of the Young Men's Business Club, at whose invitation they came to Grenada, about the possibility of erecting an eighty room, modern, fireproof hotel here.

The matter was discussed thoroughly from many angles and when these two gentlemen left for their homes Tuesday afternoon they had several propositions under consideration, one of which it is believed they will consider favorably.

State Gets $2,800,000 From Gas, Auto Tax

Secretary Legislative Highway Committee Tells Sources of Revenue for Road Building and Maintenance in State. Comparison with Other States.

By J. C. Satterfield, Secretary Legislative Highway Committee

Approximately $9,800,000 is the total revenue received in Mississippi per annum from the present gasoline and auto privilege taxes as shown by information just released by the highway department. This entire amount is expended by the counties and the state for the maintenance and construction of highways.

Of this amount the state receives $2,800,000 for use on the highways and the counties receive $7,000,000. Besides the receipts from the vehicle taxes the counties have large sources of revenue from the county and district road levies and the per capita road tax. It is practically impossible to secure definite information on these items but the last compilation through the State Auditor's office shows that the budgets of the various countries for last year included a total of $11,852,452.43 for maintenance alone. This does not include any of the ad valorem, motor vehicle tax or bond funds used for construction. It does include, however, that portion of the motor vehicle taxes which was used for maintenance.

The motor vehicle taxes in this state are a five cent gasoline tax and an auto privilege tax which averaged $10.65 per car last year. In addition each car owner has to pay for his tag. As the average consumption of gasoline per automobile each year is found by national authorities to be 500 gallons, the money received from each automobile per one cent of the gasoline tax is $5.00. Thus in Mississippi the auto privilege tax is equivalent to a two cent gasoline tax in terms of the amount of tax paid by each automobile owner.

Each cent gasoline tax in Mississippi this year will bring approximately $1,400,000 revenue and the privilege tax brought in approximately $2,800,000. Thus the total revenue from the privilege tax is approximately the same as the revenue received from two cents gasoline tax.

The state received the revenue from two cents of the gasoline tax, or $2,800,000; the counties receive the revenue from three cents of the gasoline tax and all of the auto privilege tax, or $7,000,000. The state thus received two-sevenths of the revenue derived from the motor vehicle taxes, and the counties receive five-sevenths of that amount. However, in February, 1931, that fifth cent added to the gasoline tax last year will be automatically redistributed as between the state and counties.

Other than motor vehicle taxes the state has no revenue available for highway purposes. Federal Aid is not strictly a source of revenue for either county or state as a separate unit as it is donated to specific construction projects by the Federal Government. Under our present law it is matched with county money for the construction of highways under the supervision of the state highway department.

The committee has ascertained the present status of other states with reference to the two general items involved, i. e. the gasoline tax and the automobile privilege tax.

Three states in the Union have a six cent gasoline tax, these being Georgia, Florida and South Carolina. Ten states have a gasoline tax of five cents per gallon, and the remaining states have rates varying from that amount to two cents. These returns are as of the spring of 1929 and at that time there were pending in the legislatures of a number of states bills seeking to raise the gasoline tax to six cents. During the last five or six years every state has shown a steady increase in its gasoline tax.

Thirty-one states had a higher average automobile privilege tax than Mississippi, according to the last compilation available. Since then numerous increases have been made and this information will be received by the committee later. Among the states that then had a higher privilege tax than Mississippi were N. Carolina with an average of $19.88 per car. Oregon $26.68, Vermont $23.75, Connecticut $24.17, Arkansas $17.72, Virginia $15.50, W. Virginia $16.27, Massachusetts $18.92, New Jersey $18.19. The average privilege tax for the United States was a little less than $14.00 per passenger car as compared to $10.53 in Mississippi.

Power Company Directors View Hydro Development

A group of directors of the Mississippi Power and Light Company at Carpenter Hydro-Electric project on the Ouachita river near Hot Springs, Arkansas. The Carpenter Hydro-Electric plant of 80,000 h. p. is to be interconnected with the system of the Mississippi Power and Light Company and will make additional hydro-electric power available in Mississippi—this in addition to the power generated at the 134,000 h. p. station at Sterlington in the natural gas fields of Louisiana.

Speaking to a group of directors and stockholders of the three power companies headed by Harvey C. Couch, Mr. Thomas eulogized the power company's president for the work that he has done for Mississippi, Arkansas and Louisiana in bringing about additional manufacturing and extending the advantages of electric service to agricultural and dairy communities. Mr. Thomas declared that the Mississippi Power and Light Company has "aided more in the development of our own state in the last three years than any institution ever operated in Mississippi".

In speaking of the opportunities for further industrial development, Mr. Abell told the group of directors and stockholders of the three power companies headed by Mr. Couch that investment bankers of the east have full confidence in this section of the south and in Mr. Couch, and that they are ready to meet any need for money that Mr. Couch recommends. He said that these states offered best opportunities for growth of any three states in the Union with their remarkable variety and quantity of resources and that the markets are here. Mr. Abell referred to studies now being carried out by the Couch companies to foster the manufacture of raw materials of this section and explained how the interconnection of the generating stations, utilizing natural gas, oil, coal and water power of these three states, make for better service than in any part of the United States, and declared that the future of the mid-south territory is even brighter than the most optimistic dream at this time.

December the fifth is the date decided upon for the fall production of the Player's Guild of Grenada College. The play is "Trelawney of the Wells" by Pinero and the curtain goes up on it at 8:00 p. m. Trelawney has the largest cast of any play yet produced by the Grenada College Guild, and several town students have important roles - Miss Elizabeth Holder of Grenada an expression senior at the college, plays the leading man, Tom Wrench, and she and Miss Thelma Jackson of Grenada figure largely in the plot, while Misses Fay Gunn, Lulu Mae Provine and Garvis Pennington are among the leading stars of the Wells Theatre, and Miss Elizabeth Goza, maid at the actors boarding house, for Trelawney of the Wells is a play of plays and players, and is a story of the events of the actors and actresses of the Wells, the Olympic and the Pantheon Theatres. It contains much humor and pathos found in life on and off the stage, and the Player's Guild has some real comedians in the show folk who have comedy spirit as Misses Loyce Norris and Jack Wright, as well as emotional and serious actors. Miss Mary Miller Murry, who needs no introduction to Grenada audiences, Grenada College or town folk is to be Miss Trelawney. You will chuckle over Trelawney of the Wells and also laugh out loud. The lines are clever and the action of the play runs the gamut of the emotions. Each of the twenty or more members of the cast does much to put over the show, which will furnish an evening of real enjoyment. You must not miss Trelawney of the Wells, the Player's Guild fall production.

Coming Of Santa Is Joyous To Children

Kiddies Are Aglow over Nearness of Christmas. Spirit of Expectancy Pervades Homes in Grenada.

If the kids in Grenada haven't begun to count the days until Christmas and the annual visit of Santa Claus, long before this, there's something wrong. They aren't normal kids or they are sick. The best thing to do in the circumstances, it is advised, is to see your famly physician and see him now.

No one has any misgiving as to the physical condition of the kids of this town. At least so far as the majority of them are concerned, and it's a safe wager, no matter what the odds are, that every last mother's one of them has begun his calculations as to the remaining days before the visit of old Santa, who annually distributes Christmas gifts and good cheer at the Christmas season.

Not only are they counting the days until Christmas, but they have already started the list of things they want this year. If you want everything to run smoothly during the holiday season, it wouldn't be amiss to do a little listening in on them.

Now, for you, Mr. Pa and Mrs. Ma. The good old Saint has to depend pretty largely on your assistance in the matter of planning the Christmas for the various chaps of the land, and unless you give him the proper tips things are likely to get gummed up and there will be a lot of disappointment.

Kids from Washington to Florida and from Maine to California have been all tuned up for some days now. In fact they began making plans ever since last Christmas. Of course that was a long time off, and while they had some ideas as to what they would want this year, they felt as though it would be an age before the time would roll around for them to realize them.

Even now with Christmas only a little less than a month away, the youngsters feel like it will never get here. All have had the same experience as kids. It was a century almost from one Christmas to another. As the years piled up though the intervals between one Christmas season and another have gradually lessened until now, if one has passed the half way mark of life it seems as though one Christmas hardly passes before another is right here again.

Young and old get some joy out of this holiday season, but it is for the kids for the most part. They get the biggest kick out of it, and why shouldn't they? After a fellow grows up he suddenly discovers that there is a lot of sorrow and disappointment mixed up with the pleasures of this life. So why deny the kids all the fun and pleasure they can possibly get out of the Yuletide season. They'll get their bumps soon enough, so if they can have any fun now, give it to them.

When the kids in your home sit down some evening, and if they have not already done so they will shortly, and begin their letter to Santa, join in with them and lend them all of the assistance possible. Keep a keen eye on the things they will list in that letter. You'll

CITY GETS COMPANY OF NATIONAL GUARD

Headquarters Outfit Moved from Water Valley. Armory, Located on Square, to Be Used by American Legion and Boy Scouts. Capt. Burris in Command.

The Headquarters Battery and Combat Train, 1st Battalion 178th Field Artillery, Mississippi National Guard, was moved from Water Valley to its new home in Grenada Monday, Nov. 25th. Captain L. O. Burris is in charge with 1st Lieutenants F. S. Nason and 2nd Lt. Dudley Crawford as the other commissioned officers.

Capt. Burris has been an active officer in the National Guard for several years. All three of these officers served during the world war in France and are quite capable of taking charge of their respective duties.

Jimmie Shaw will be the top sergeant and Sergeant B. F. Roche will be in charge of the armory and supplies. Sergt. Shaw has had military school training that should make him an A-1 first sergeant and Sergt. Roche has seen service in the Mississippi National Guard as company clerk of this same company and is being transferred. Sergt. W. O. Williams of Grenada was also transferred and other competent men have been selected to fill other non-commissioned offices.

The second floor above Meek Motor Co. is being used as the armory. Work has been done to put it in shape and seven transport truck loads of uniforms, arms and supplies have already been received, transferred to Grenada from Water Valley by the 122nd Transport Company of Senatobia.

The armory will also be used as a meeting place for the American Legion and the Boy Scouts of Grenada thereby serving a triple purpose and filling a long felt want in the city. The National Guard will meet each Wednesday night. The dates of the other two organizations' meeting nights have not been made known.

Captain Burris has already commenced recruiting men for his company and is taking only young men of the highest physical and moral standards between the ages of 18 and 35. Any young man in Grenada county is eligible to join. He intends to have in Grenada the crack company of the state and there are few men in the state more capable of doing this than he. His record with the Mississippi National Guard is of the very highest and if he can succeed in training his men up to his specifications there is no doubt that the Grenada company will bring home the silver cups from each summer encampment.

Grenada is indeed fortunate in obtaining this company of National Guard. Should trouble of any description arise in or near the community the guard could be called out on a few minutes' notice and the situation would be well in hand. Aside from this Grenada with its patriotic history to look back upon should be proud to have in case of war an already trained company of soldiers to turn over for the country's defense.

The company will include the captain, two lieutenants and 35 enlisted men. These men will be equipped with regulation U. S. Army uniforms, arms, etc. A rifle range has already been established within a short distance of Grenada and an indoor pistol range will likely soon be installed in the armory. Ammunition will be furnished by the government and target practice will be regularly engaged in.

The men will draw regular army pay for all drills and in encampment. The place and time set for the next encampment is not definitely settled as yet. The Water Valley company encamped on the Mississippi coast near Biloxi last August where the entire Mississippi National Guard, over 1500 men strong, were in camp.

UNDERGOES OPERATION

His many friends hope that Donald Sharp, who underwent an operation Wednesday of last week in a Memphis hospital, will soon be able to return home greatly improved and that his recovery will be rapid. Mr. Sharp is one of Grenada's outstanding and most popular young business men.

Mrs. Sharp has been at his bedside since the operation and his father, Mr. R. W. Sharp, spent the day with him Sunday.

EXPRESSING THANKS TO ALMIGHTY GOD.

It is one of the many beautiful things about the life of the Nation that a custom has been established that sets apart one day out of all the three hundred and sixty-five in which the country as a government acknowledges God and his goodness and mercy, and a day which serves to remind each and every person who has reached the age of discretion of the daily benefits that are poured out to him from God's treasure house.

Looking backward to that beautiful garden where man's first home was made and where all was loveliness, splendor and magnificence down through the centuries to the land of milk and honey, and then to our own beloved country, we see in its every tree, in every flower, in every brook and stream, in its varied soil and climate, in its luscious fruits, products of the earth and what God working through man has wrought in the marvelous structures which adorn the land—all these declare in unmistakable tones that God is very near and that he has done well his part in everything. The question then must come to the thinking man, "Am I doing my part?"

Living is an individual matter. God is an individual. God made man in his own image, which carries with it the conviction that he also imparted to him many of his own attributes. It therefore follows that we are not to lose ourselves in the multitude; that God does not expect us to seek to cover our sins and imperfections with the statement, "I have only done what everybody else does.

Man delights to smite himself on the chest and assert, either audibly or inaudibly, "I do my own thinking; I am wearing no man's collar". Yet despite such protestations, the sad story comes down through the ages, and it is still being enacted, that a vast multitude of men and women measure their conduct and shape their actions very largely by what those do with whom they associate. But let it be hoped that on this Thanksgiving day there will be thousands to realize more than ever that kinsmen, neighbors and friends do not pay their debts to their fellowmen, and likewise that their debts to their Maker can be paid only by them—and that God's only begotten Son has offered himself to carry all of our sins and to wash them away with his blood.

Thus on this day, November 28, in the year of our Lord 1929, the sky is clear between this world and the next; the stars twinkle in the heavens and there is a radiance and an effulgence of glory seen with the natural eye as well as with the eye of faith that excel all that is past. We are being swept along with the mighty current of human actions, and we should be more than grateful that we have some little part in the great events that are transpiring.

Our country has everything for which to be thankful. For what is wrong, we must know is our own fault.

Mississippi has been most wonderfully blessed in 1929. There has been no great disaster. We have been spared from plagues and from pestilence. Golden gifts have been laid at our very doors.

Grenada, Dear, Sweet Grenada,—place of a wonderful history, a town that has been blessed with generations of people imbued with the noblest impulses and that today has a citizenship who live together in brotherly love, who are charitable and patient with each other—has received every evidence of the bounty of a benign Providence this year. Our hearts should well up in gratitude and praise to our God, the source from which all good things come.

We feel sure that our Creator would have us ponder most seriously, particularly at this period, on the marvelous wealth that he has entrusted to this Nation. So much has been done for our country that the world recognizes it as the richest in all the world,—but this wealth carries a responsibility that no nation ever before carried safely. The ominous thought of this Thanksgiving day is, can our people carry the responsibility of great wealth any better than any other nation that has gone on before unless God is honored with this wealth? Are we spending wisely?

I do not profess to be what is called orthodox myself, but the longer I live the more clearly I see that without religion and morality, no nation or individual can prosper. It is the youth who lives an orderly and moral life, and who reverences all sacred teachings, who grows up into a prosperous man and a good citizen—Recollections of Mississippi and Mississippians by Reuben Davis.

ARTHUR BRISBANE SAYS THEY GET BUSY FOR WALL STREET.

Arthur Brisbane, regarded as one of the greatest editorial writers of the country, said in "his column" just after the financial doctors were called in to minister unto the financially sick in Wall Street, that the farmers "might muse as follows":

"How busy they all get when anything happens in Wall Street. How quietly and calmly they take it when things happen to the farmer".

Wall Street has too long been the petted child of the Nation. From the very beginning of this government, Alexander Hamilton did all he could to put the wealthy of New York, and particularly the bankers of that city, in the saddle. And the plans he fostered then have since materialized in making New York a sort of financial dictator for the whole country.

Yes, the ups and the downs of the New York Stock Exchange of some days ago was enough to call out the financial doctors who evidently said something like this: "Got to do something and something quickly. Our fellows who have been making millions every week are making, many of them, only a few hundred thousand dollars now, and the worst of it is that many more seem to have wandered off into a financial wilderness. Can't let them suffer. The whole country must be bled, if necessary, in order to take care of the Wall Street shylocks. We need 'em in our business."

Here is what Brisbane said in reference to this matter the time named, and he has not failed to apply the hot iron to the Stock Market there from time to time:

"The people reading the list of big guns brought into action, to help business, ask themselves: 'What is the matter? What is there beside the slumping of a Wall Street gambling mania of which we have not been told?'

"The American farmer, listening to the radio for prices of wheat and corn, might muse as follows:

" 'How busy they all get when anything happens to Wall Street!

" 'How quietly and calmly they take it when things happen to the farmer.' "

WHAT NEWSPAPER ADS DID.

It was only a few years ago that the retail stores in towns and the smaller cities did the bulk of their week's business on Saturday. While the other five business days might have paid expenses the merchant depended upon the Saturday sales for the major portion of his week's profit. Needless to say the average merchant would have been exempt from excess profits taxes in those days.

The newspaper is given credit for discovering the possibility of scattering the Saturday peak load over the six business days of the week and it was newspaper advertising which has achieved the present more equitable distribution of the week's business. Saturday is still the merchant's busy day, but now he is only a little less busy on the preceding five days.

This is only one of the many services performed for business by newspaper advertising. It is irrefutable that a great part of the increase in business experienced by the retail stores generally in recent years has been created by newspaper advertising. Newspaper advertising has been the "Aladdin's Lamp" of the retail merchant. There are still isolated towns where one may see for himself what "might have been" the nation over if newspaper advertising had never been.

THE ROSE BUSH LADEN WITH SNOW.

Sat the other day looking out of a window when our eyes fell upon a rose bush which was bent with snow. From under the snow and at sundry peep holes could be seen the most beautiful red roses seemingly laughing at the situation and breathing a message of cheer that came from out and beyond this life.

The picture brought to our mind a life bent with years, one laden with the perfumes of deeds well done. We saw in the rose bush the three score and ten mark and we saw the deeds it had performed in the lovely flowers red with the light of the Celestial City, and wafting back from the confines of that beautiful home above laughter, mirth and song, and that encouragement which every struggling and inquiring soul at times needs.

It was a picture beyond the power of language to fittingly describe. It was a picture that would stagger the world's most renowned artists—the snow fresh from the domains above, pure, white and unsullied by worldly contact and beneath it a message in flowers that the human mind cannot interpret, yet knows that it comes from that divine head which is beauty, love, pathos and song.

EARNEST YOUNG PEOPLE.

In spite of all the loose talk and writing about the wild youth of the present day, recent statistics from the Bureau of Education indicate that the percentage of earnest young people is still very high.

These statistics show that one-half of the young men and one-fourth of the young women in the colleges and universities of the United States are earning their schooling in whole or in part through working outside of school hours. In one year more than $33,000,000 was earned by the labor of students.

Among the part time jobs held by students are office work, automobile repairing, specialty selling, teaching, hotel and summer resort employment, household service, farm work and other activities.

In the face of such a showing as is being made, it can hardly be maintained that the young generation is as frivolous as its critics would have us believe.

HUNTERS, WATCH YOUR AIM.

Many farmers of Grenada County still have much of their crops to gather. They are working in the fields every day picking cotton, gathering corn, etc. Hunters should exercise the utmost care and caution at this time in view of this fact as it would be a most regrettable occurrence should a hunter kill or wound one of these workers in the field with a carelessly aimed shot. Owners of farm lands who are generous enough to permit hunting on their property should be treated with every consideration and the use of care upon the part of the hunter may prevent a serious accident.

Hon. Oscar Johnston writes an open letter to the Federal Farm Board in which he very pertinently suggests that the proposed Memphis meet of the Farm Board to confer with the Cotton Cooperative Associations cannot accomplish much for the farmer unless the producer is also called into conference. Mr. Johnston states that there are but 14 cotton cooperative associations in the South and that these handle but slightly over 6 per cent of the cotton crop. He believes, he says, in the cooperative associations and states that the Long Staple Cotton Association domic led at Greenwood is one of the best and that it handles but about 350,000 of the 1,500,000 bales of long staple cotton made.

Lesson for December 1

THE CHRISTIAN HOME IN A MODERN WORLD

LESSON TEXT—Deut. 6:3-9; Matt. 19:3-9; Luke 2:40-52; 24:28-32; Eph. 6:1-9; II Tim. 1:3-5; II Tim. 14:15; Luke 2:40-52.

GOLDEN TEXT—Honor thy father and thy mother.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Pleasing God in Our Home.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Pleasing God in Our Home.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Living as Christians at Home.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Christian Home: Its Helps and Hindrances.

Instead of an exposition of the printed text, as suggested by the lesson committee, it will be better to make a synthetic study of the salient points of the several reference texts proposed by the committee.

I. The Makers of the Home (Matt. 19:3-9).

The home is a divine institution. Its makers are the man and the woman joined together in holy wedlock, according to God's primary law—one man for one woman and one woman for one man.

1. This union is based upon the fundamental fact of sex (v. 4), and is so vital that God declared the man and the woman to be one flesh (Gen 2:24).

2. Divorce was not in God's thought for man (v. 6).

It was only permitted because of sin (v. 8). Divorce has the disapproval of God and right thinking men and women. It is a blot upon our civilization. Its fearful increase shews the moral breakdown of society.

3. Fornication the one and only ground for divorce (v. 9).

Laxness of the divorce laws causes the Christian to hang his head in shame.

II. The Ideal Child (Luke 2:40-52).

Marriage has as its primary purpose the propagation of the race. Children are to be desired and expected. Christ stands as the ideal child in the home.

1. His central interest (v. 49).

"My father's business." Being conscious of His Mission He entered the temple to inquire into the meaning of the ordinances of God's house.

2. His obedience (v. 51).

Though fully conscious of His divine being and mission, He went down to Nazareth and lived a life of filial obedience.

3. His development (v. 52).

(1) Bodily—"Increased in stature." His body became strong. A strong, healthy body is the inalienable right of every child, and parents are obligated to provide food and raiment such as to preserve their health.

(2) Mental—"Increased in wisdom." As a normal human being, his mental powers developed.

(3) Spiritual—"The grace of God was upon him," and He increased in favor with God and man. How beautiful is the picture of the symmetrical development of the Savior of men.

III. The Place of God's Word in the Home (Deut. 6:3-9).

The home has a vital teaching function. The child develops slowly; remains in the home for a long time to give an opportunity to be taught the things of God.

1. The central truth to be taught (vv. 4, 5).

This is twofold. The unity of God (v. 4) and man's supreme obligation to God (v. 5).

2. How the truth was to be kept alive (vv. 6-9).

(1) It was to be diligently taught to the children (v. 7).

(2) It was to be talked of everywhere and under all circumstances (v. 7).

(3) It was to be bound upon the hand and placed as frontlets between the eyes (v. 8).

(4) It was to be written upon the posts of the houses (v. 9).

IV. The Early Training of the Child (II Tim. 1:3-5; 3:14, 15).

Timothy was taught the Scriptures from his childhood by a godly mother and grandmother. The Holy Spirit uses the Word of God in the salvation of children as well as adults.

V. Christ a Guest in the Home Luke (24:28-32).

At the urgent invitation of certain disciples, Christ tarried in their home and sat at meat with them. Christ will come into the home and bless those who sincerely invite Him.

VI. Mutual Relation of the Members of the Home (Eph. 6:1-9).

In the home are found father, mother, children, and sometimes servants. Each member has certain rights and privileges which must be respected. Children are to obey and honor their parents. Parents are not to provoke their children to wrath, but to bring them up in the nurture and admonition of the Lord. Servants are to be obedient to their masters and to render service as unto the Lord. Masters are to show consideration to their servants, since they themselves are servants to the heavenly Master.

Faith in Man

Faith in man is a duty as well as faith in God; in fact, our general conduct every day in our intercourse with our fellow-beings depends at every turn on our faith in our fellow beings. When that faith ceases, society ceases with it, and a rule not of men with moral natures, but of tigers and foes in the guise of men continues with it.—John [illegible].

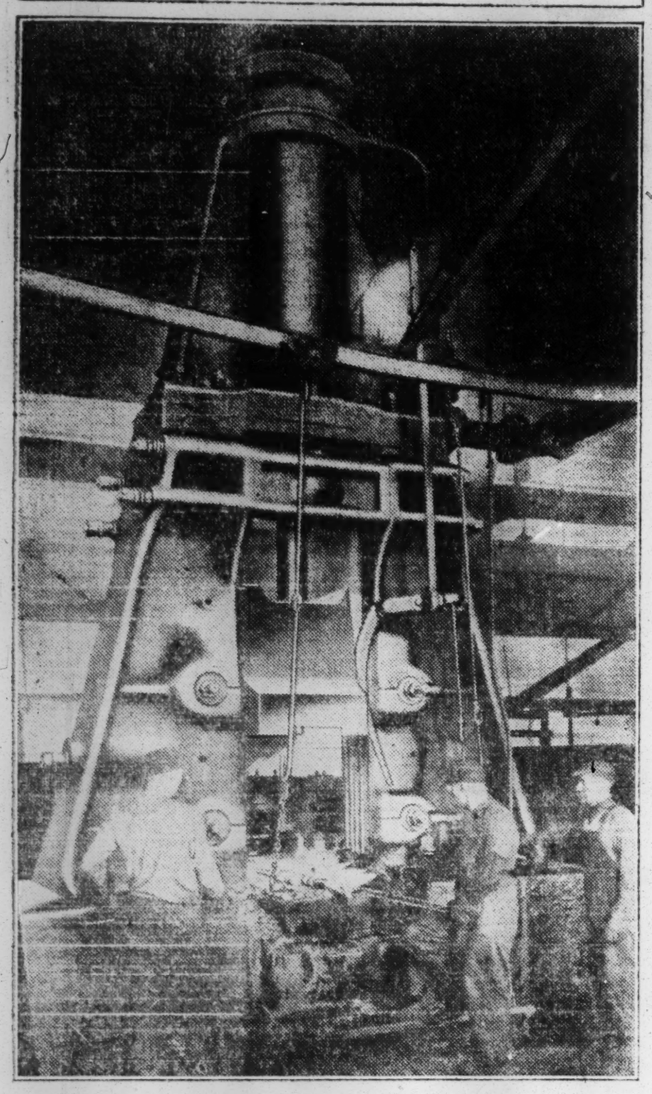
306,000 Pounds of Dodge Precision



In this 153-ton steam hammer, the seven-bearing crankshafts used in Dodge cars are forged at the rate of 45 an hour. A straight bar of steel, heated to a temperature of 2,200 degrees, is placed under a 22,000 pound hammer which forges the crankshaft under tremendous pressure. After this operation, every crankshaft is heat-treated, completely machined and subjected to accurate balancing tests before being placed in the engine.

County Teachers Meeting

The second meeting of the teachers of Grenada County will be held in the auditorium of the Grenada High School Saturday, December 7th, at 10 o'clock, All teachers are expected to be present and invite the trustees of the schools to be present.

Dr. H. C. Ricks, of the health department of the state, will be present and discuss some of the problems of health in connection with the public schools. Also, Miss Gladys Eyrich, mouth hygienist, will be present and give a demonstration relative to the care and protection of teeth among the school children.

The program is as follows:

Assembly singing, Led by Miss Gann; Devotional, Rev. R. L. McLeod; Special, Primary pupils led by Miss Ruth Corley; Address, Dr. H. C. Ricks; Demonstration on Dental Hygiene, Miss Gladys Eyrich.

The ladies of the Episcopal church have been providing the teachers of the one-teacher schools with magazines for the use of the pupils in these smaller districts. The children have been enjoying the privilege given them by the good ladies of this church. This is a splendid work for the women and certainly a fine advantage for the boys and girls of the small schools. Thanks to these good women.

Due to a large number of cases of diphtheria prevailing among the school children of the city and county it was deemed advisable to secure the services of the department of health in making the Schick Tests to obtain the susceptibility of diphtheria in the children of the schools. Dr. H. C. Ricks was directed to this county and made the tests in many of the schools. The results are as follows:

Grenada, total Schicked 490, negative 345, positive 144; Holcomb, total Schicked 207, negative 162, positive 45; Gore Springs, total Schicked 131, negative 122, positive 9; Wolfe-Hardy, total Schicked 79, negative 19, positive 30; Kirkman, total Schicked 29, negative 20, positive 9.

In most cases where there was an indication of diphtheria the patrons have had their children given the toxin-antitoxin. A splendid spirit prevailed among all concerned for the welfare of the children. The department of health is very gratified with the cooperation received and with the results obtained. The following is a letter received by a number of the trustees from the state health officer:

"I wish to express our appreciation for the splendid cooperation given our Dr. H. C. Ricks upon his recent visit to your schools in a program of diphtheria prevention. Through you, we should like to thank the teachers and parents for their cooperation given in this important work of preserving the health and lives of children.

"Dr. Ricks reports that he received one hundred percent cooperation which is rather unusual. Very few rural communities have shown such interest."

THE PASSING OF COL. T. G. JAMES AT SHARKEY

In the passng to the other world last Sunday of Col. Tom G. James of Sharkey, Tallahatchie county, not only does his immediate locality lose a worth while citizen but there are thousands over north Mississippi and many in other states who will miss this splendd man and royal citizen. Mr. James kept open house. His home came about as nearly representing the old pre-civil war plantation homes as could be found. He could not do too much for his friends who were legion. He entertained the high and the low, and was at home with both and made even the humblest understand that his heart beat in sympathy with them. He delighted in the association of his friends and went to great pains to provide wholesome sport for those who delighted particularly in the hunt and quest for big game. He had a fine mind and a great soul. In the years ago he made a profession of religion and there can be little doubt that his relationship with his Maker made him the generous spirit he was. He was the friend of man.

To his stricken family, the writer offers sincere sympathy.

Mr. and Mrs. Ward Allen, of Drew, spent several days this week with Mrs. Allen's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Dubard, in Grenada.

Mesdames E. W. Hughes, T. C. James, Evans Townes and Homer Spraggins are guess of relatives and friends in Grenada this week.

Mrs. W. M. Dubard and Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Anderson returned Tuesday from a visit to New Orleans.

On Monday evening Miss Thelma Horn entertained a few friends in honor of Miss Katherine Tucker.

Rev. J. R. Countiss will fill the pulpit at the Methodist church next Sunday. The new pastor will not be here until the following Sunday in view of the fact that Rev. Mr. Tucker cannot move until his predecessor at Greenwood moves.

Supt. McLendon of the city schools reports that the first, sixth and seventh grades at the white schools are badly crowded. In two of the rooms there are over 50 pupils.

AS WE GROW OLDER

We learn, as we grow older, to recognize—

The value of time as a curative agent upon events and institutions—and to be patient in the premises.

That altercation is unwise because it is a waste of energy. Say nothing, and saw wood.

That it is well to keep out of crowds.

That good books are better company than gadding individuals.

That it is scarcely worth while running to catch a car—or anything else, for that matter.

That ceaseless buzzing activity may be disease, not enterprise.

That many things must be waited for and cannot be hastened; and the way out to be in a hurry, is to begin them early.

That we don't have to apologize for existing. Do what is right without preface or explanation.

That the "Norman craft" of history was just patience and foresight; and the "German thoroughness" of our day is simply preparedness.

Have your objects and keep to them. Go into nothing new unless worth while.

"And this, too, shall pass away" applies to all our worries.—Selected.

THE SABBATH

"Keep ye holy the Sabbath Day;"
These are the words the preachers say.
What is "holy", and what is "rest"?
Who can answer this question best?

If on Sundays ye must not work,
And certain pleasures ye too must shirk,
How then, can preachers receive their pay,
For work they do on this "holy" day?

The Church and State have many a law,
But none have they with so great a flaw.
Christ taught his lessons on any day,
And for the teaching received no pay!

—Lillece C. Prendergast in Gulf Coast Guide.

AGONIZING WAIL ABOUT TAXES GOES UP.

The newspapers in almost every quarter of the state are expressing the agonizing wails of the tax payers of their respective communities. The "save us or we perish", cry is made because of information given out by Hon. C. C. White, state auditor, as to what the total indebtedness of the state and the various subdivisions is, and because of the mandate of the tax commission that a great many of the counties must increase their assessment rolls.

The Sentinel has been playing on this same key for several years. We have felt mighty lonesome at times; some have been unkind enough to dub us as not being propressive enough. We have looked at this thing of big appropriations and of debt contracting for the state and the counties through the same glasses that we consider individual indebtedness. We sometimes flatter ourselves that we are just a few years ahead of some of our good friends of the press in considering the economic affairs of our state and in choosing men for high office.

The following extracts taken from some of the leading newspapers of the state give unmistakable evidence that the people are waking up as to how they are bound hand and foot by bond issues and these big legislative appropriations,—which by the way, have been by no means confined to the present legislature or present administration.

Says the Gloster Record:

"The state's bonded indebtedness is now above twenty-five million, not including three and a half million outstanding, short time notes due March 31.

"Taking these notes into consideration, Mississippi increased her indebtedness nearly 100 per cent from January 1928 to January 1929. These figures show very clearly 'what is the matter with Mississippi,' that is, too big a part of the net income of the towns, counties and state goes to pay interest on bonds. Public improvements obtained with bond issues are all right, but there is such a thing as over-doing it, and it looks like this is what Mississippi has done. We owe too much for our assessed valuation."

Says the Gulf Coast Guide:

"On the heels of an announcement through the local board of supervisors that there had been made a three-mill tax levy reduction in Harrison County comes an order to the board by the state tax commission at Jackson to increase the personal tax assessment in Harrison County $834,311.50, with threatened increase of actual taxes expected of $74,051.50.

* * * *

"However much the taxpayers and the local county board may protest against this increase, it is in the end but another reminder of the universal problem of mounting taxes in the conduct of business.

"Perhaps the average taxpayer thinks too often in the terms of taxes, however, when he should meditate upon the extravagances or economics of government administration.

"Along with business inefficiency in government administration, it is well also to consider the lost revenues that now leak away through generous tax exemptions—too much property in Mississippi is exempt, much, if not most of which should be shouldering its share of the load of government administration."

Winston County Journal says:

"The whole country seems to be drunk on education and highways. So reckless have they become over these two items especially, that they are now spending far more than a state of Mississippi's wealth can stand, and the strange thing is that so many people fail to realize it. Unless something can be brought about to reduce expenditures, and to get more efficiency, both in schools and highway building, than is now being realized, stagnation in these enterprises is as sure to result as night follows day."

* * * *

"Everywhere are coming complaints of the large county budgets the Supervisors have placed for another year's expenses. Among the number we have noticed is Pearl River county, the Governor's own county. The Item of that county has had a great deal to say of the tax burden, and the people are calling for a reduction down there. Pearl River county's budget is near $800,000. The highway item alone is $400,000."

The Choctaw Plain Dealer deals at some length with the question of mounting public expenses and the big assessments. It states that Choctaw County has spent for roads and bridges during the past fiscal year $215,084.84. It states:

"It is a settled fact thet we cannot continue this way. People must live in their means or go broke. If they can stand the present expenditure, good and well."

THE RIGHT WORD

By Curtis Nicholson.
Copyright, 1929, by W. Curtis Nicholson.

The following letter has been received from Mark Flanagan of Tulsa, Okla.:

"Occasionally, 'The Right Word' has devoted a day to expressions I presume the author has overheard. I have lived for brief periods in different parts of the country, and I must say that I have overheard many samples of poor English, and so I am taking the liberty of sending you some, thinking that you might like to publish them in your interesting column. I could give you many more than the following:

"1. I don't want no more.
"2. All of the boys wanted to go along.
"3. Me and Jim say you come in.
"4. Between you and I, I don't see any other way out.
"5. It's him alright.
"6. He run right up to me and says.
"7. I done all I could for him.
"8. Where have you been to?

"These sentences should read as follows:

"1. I don't want any more.
"2. All the boys wanted to go along.
"3. Jim and I saw you come in.
"4. Between you and me, I don't see any other way out.
"5. It's he all right.
"6. He ran right up to me and said.
"7. I did all I could for him.
"8. Where have you been?"

THEY GO TO CHURCH

An ancient scribber offers this analysis of church attendance.

Some go to church to take a walk;
Some go to church to laugh and talk;
Some go there to meet a friend;
Some go there their time to spend;
Some go there to meet a lover;
Some go there a fault to cover;
Some go there for speculation;
Some go there for observation;
Some go there to doze and nod;
The wise go there to worship God.
And there still may be other reasons.—Selected.

Dangerous Business

Our stomach and digestive systems are lined with membrane which is delicate, sensitive and easily injured. It is dangerous business, then, to use medicines containing harsh drugs, salts or minerals, when we are constipated. In addition to the possibility of injuring the linings of our digestive system, these medicines give only temporary relief and may prove habit forming. The safe way to relieve constipation is with Herbine, the cathartic that is made from herbs, and acts in the way nature intended. You can get Herbine at Freshman-Junior Nuptials.

One of the prettiest affairs ever staged at Grenada College took place in the auditorium Wednesday evening when the freshman and junior classes were wedded.

The chapel was artistically decorated with pink carnation ferns, and pine trees, the improvised altar having been banked with the greenery. Tall white tapers burning in silver candelabra added to the effectiveness of the scene. Miss E. Faye Griffith, head of the art department, had charge of the decorations and used her usual rare taste and discrimination in making the setting one of stately beauty.

Miss Nancy Ruth Dodds gave two delightful vocal numbers with Miss Evelyn Perkins as accompanist. Miss Perkins played also for the bridal chorus which melodiously rendered Lohengrin's beautiful wedding march. Misses Elizabeth Stone and Sara McNeil were the charming color bearers.

Others in the bridal party were Misses Agnes Trusty, first maid, Elizabeth Hutchins, Marianne Crenshaw, Frances Paessler, Jessie McDaniel, Mary Earle Bethany, and Dit Perry. The groomsmen were E. Murphy, L. McCorkle, K. Parham, C. Smith, N. Speaks, A. Russell and M. J. Finger.

Miss Maggie Lindsey, voted the most popular student at Grenada College in a recent contest, was the matron of honor. Miss Frances York was maid of honor.

Immediately following the maid of honor were the flower girls, Misses Mattie Keith Forrest and Margaret Crenshaw.

Miss Elizabeth Smith, bride of the freshman class, never looked more beautiful than she did when she entered the auditorium on the arm of Dr. J. R. Countiss, president of the college, who gave her away.

She was met at the improvised altar by Garvice Pennington, handsome groom, and his best man Loyce Norris, president of the junior class.

Following the lovely bride was little David Wilson, ring bearer.

Jack Wright took charge of the ritual part of the ceremony and joined together "forever and ever" the classes of 1931 and 1933.

The bridal chorus consisted of the following girls: Carl Henry, Grace Henry, Dolores White, Josephine Whitehead, Ruth Donaldson, Mary Harris, Mary Elizabeth Richards, Margaret Bryan, Lucile Roberts, Katherine Martin, Elmer Sayle and Bamadel Rutledge.

Margaret Ajax, Gene Thornton, Annie Day McArthur and Eloise Thompson were ushers.

Miss Lillian McGrath, director of the physical education department, sponsored the affair and is due much credit for its success. She has done a great deal for Grenada College in building up that phase of college life.

The junior department of the Methodist church enjoyed an informal party on last Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the basement of the church.

The parents of the children in the department were also invited and a number of them were present, though bad weather prevented many from attending.

Gifts of tablets, pencils, candy, and miscellaneous articles were packed and sent as a Thanksgiving offering to the Methodist orphanage in Jackson and enough chocolate candy for them was cooked there in the kitchen. While the teachers, assisted by several mothers of children in the department, made the candy the children played various games. Later ice cream cones were served.

Tatum-Norwood.

A wedding of great interest throughout the state took place Sunday morning, November 24, when Miss Maude Norwood and Mr. Albert Tatum motored to Kosciusko from Grenada and were quietly married at the home of the groom's brother and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Burns Tatum.

The bride was becomingly gowned for the wedding in a silhouette model of green flat crepe, with harmonizing accessories. For traveling she changed to an attractive black dress with accessories in harmony.

Mrs. Tatum, whose home was originally in Eupora, is a young woman of great personal charm and beauty. She came to Grenada in October and began work for the Townes-Kimbrough Co. where her gracious and pleasing manner won for her many friends.

Mr. Tatum is a member of one of Grenada's most prominent families, being the son of Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Tatum. He is a valued employee of the Illinois Central Railroad.

After going to Jackson and Vicksburg for a short honeymoon trip and spending several days with their father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Tatum will occupy an apartment in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Wilson.

The Sentinel joins in wishing for them a long life of happiness.

SPELLS OF BACKACHE

"I HAVE used Cardui at intervals for sixteen years, when I suffered from weakness, and it always helped me," says Mrs. J. W. Jinright, R. F. D. 2, Troy, Ala.

"Mostly I was afflicted with bad spells of backache. At times I felt as if my back would break. I would drag one foot after the other, in a helpless sort of a way, and once I got down in bed. My husband urged me to take Cardui, and I soon found what a fine medicine it really was.

"When my second child was little, I was in very bad health. I did not pick up as I should have. I was weak and sickly. I do not believe that I would have come through, but for Cardui." EX-146

An Unpleasant Subject

All of the functions of life are not pleasant to consider. Perhaps this is why some mothers refuse to think that such symptoms as restless sleep, loss of flesh, lack of appetite or itching nose and fingers in their children, can be caused by round or pin worms. Loosening the Grip of Time

ASKING no favors, playing no favorites, time gives to every man twenty-four hours every day.

Nor can one moment be added. To scientific skill and human ingenuity remains the task of making the most of the time that we have. How well these efforts have been rewarded is common knowledge. Today man completes in moments—with a mind free for other duties—work that a few years ago required hours. Modern transportation draws distant points hours closer.

Working hand in hand with each advance—faster than the fastest—is the telephone. Wherever you call—in town or out—you get your connections even quicker than you did last year, much quicker than the year before.

The grip of time is being loosened, but it must be loosened even more to meet the needs of tomorrow. A refusal to be content with present accomplishments is the spur that urges the 28,000 employees of this company to exert their best efforts to make your telephone service faster and better.

Mrs. Todd Complimented.

One of the lovely parties which have been given for Mrs. Walton Todd was the morning bridge at which Mrs. W. E. Roberts entertained on last Thursday at her Main Street apartment.

The affair had also been planned for Mrs. P. M. Boddie, of Clarksdale, who was visiting her sister, Mrs. Shade Steele, but she was suddenly called away on account of the illness of another sister, Mrs. Robert Turner, of Charleston.

Mrs. Roberts' decorations were nasturtiums and chrysanthemums.

During the games delicious dates and nuts were enjoyed and later a tempting salad course was served.

Mrs. John Bradley was the most fortunate player and she was awarded a dainty rose glass perfume set. Mrs. Ben Brown cut the consolation prize, an attractive compote. To the charming honoree Mrs. Roberts presented a pretty compote also of the rose glass.

Prior to the games a delicious salad course was served, Mrs. W. R. Todd and Miss Willie Smith graciously assisting Miss Todd.

The honoree was becomingly gowned in blue velvet and the hostess was lovely in a fall model of brown.

Fine Musicale Presented.

The choir of the First Presbyterian church, directed by Miss Catherine Lufkin and ably assisted by members of the other choirs of the city, presented on last Sunday afternoon the first of a series of twilight musicales. From the first number, "Great and Marvelous", an anthem of praise and thanksgiving, to the last number, the beautifully tender and appealing anthem, "Even Me", the program was one of great variety and beauty.

Vocal solos by Miss Anita Poe Gann, Mr. William Wright and the Rev. R. L. McLeod, Jr. were artistically rendered as were the trio by Mrs. W. A. Campbell, Miss Thelma Jackson, and Miss Gann and the duet sung by Mrs. Campbell and Miss Lufkin.

A well filled auditorium attested to the popularity of the musicales, the second of which will be given as a Christmas cantata on the afternoon of Sunday, Dec. 22.

To Miss Lufkin most of the credit for the success of the presentation should go for she has worked faithfully and untiringly with the choir. The church is indeed fortunate in having so efficient and talented a director.

From the Files of THE GRENADA SENTINEL

Marshal Gerard this week captured four young white men near the I. C. depot, who were charged with robbing a box car of merchandise. The goods were recovered and the culprits are now in jail, in default of bond, to await the action of the circuit court.

A party of young ladies from the college visited the poor house on Thanksgiving day, and gladdened the hearts of the inmates with a feast of good things. It was a worthy and most charitable deed, and will redound to the credit of these noble young students.

The junior class of the Grenada Female College entertained the seniors Thanksgiving day at an elegant luncheon.

Dr. B. C. James and wife, of Kincaid, were pleasant visitors to Grenada on Friday, en route home from a trip to the fair at St. Louis.

Bishop Bratton, accompanied by Rev. W. S. Holmes, arrived in Grenada on Thursday evening from Charleston, where the bishop conducted services that morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Weir and Miss Maville Nason came in Thursday evening to attend services at the Episcopal church. They were guests of Mrs. M. E. Mayhew.

Miss Kate Bew, from Grenada, spent Monday with relatives.—Greenwood Commonwealth.

The friends of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Miers and family regret to learn that they will move this week to Elliott, but wish for them much success in their new home.

Misses Willie and Hattie McCaslin and Misses Maude and Bessie Windham are at home again, after a delightful trip to the big fair at St. Louis.

Mayor B. C. Adams is spending a week or two in Chicago, in consultation with his physician, who will shortly leave for a tour of Europe.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Beatty, of Holcomb, were visitors to Grenada Tuesday evening to witness the performance of "Human Hearts."

Dr. W. H. Stokes, of Mayfield, Ky., spent the week with relatives in Grenada, reviewing the scenes and acquaintances of his boyhood days.

Dr. Moore Moore, a prominent young physician of Memphis, was a visitor to Grenada several days past.

Miss Aline Peake, of Bailey, is the attractive guest of Miss Mamie McElwrath this week.

The party of northern and western real estate men and home-seekers who have been making a tour of the south along the lines of the Illinois Central, under the direction of Capt. J. F. Merry, the genial and energetic assistant general passenger agent of this great railroad system, arrived in Grenada about half-past six o'clock Tuesday evening in a special train of pullman tourist cars. They were met at the depot by a committee of citizens, and marched in a body to the court house, where a sumptous and wholesome repast had been prepared under the direction of the ladies of the Presbyterian church. Grenada acquitted herself with credit and honor, and The Sentinel takes pleasure in commending the ladies who so ably conducted the affair.

Why not Pay the Tax for the ESTATE instead of from it?

Federal estate taxes and state inheritance taxes touch a great many more people than might be imagined. And when they touch—they touch deeply! President Coolidge's remarks are pertinent: "There are circumstances where the taxes may exceed the value of the property left by the decedents."

Too often a goodly portion of an estate has to be sacrificed to meet Inheritance Taxes—for such claims must be met promptly, and in cash. The logical solution is an "Inheritance Tax Policy," which saves not only money but time and worry as well.

SICK AT HIS STOMACH

"I WAS suffering from stomach trouble in 1917," says Mr. C. K. Nelson, a railroad engineer living in Pulaski, Va. "I had a tightness in my chest, a shortness of breath. There seemed to be a heavy weight in the pit of my stomach, and quite a bit of nausea, yet I couldn't vomit. I tried different remedies, yet suffered on just the same. When in West Virginia on a work train, I was in such a condition that I just gave up and came home. I could not stand to work, in my condition. Some one told me about Black-Draught. I started taking it in small doses after meals. It helped me, and I went back to work."

Over a Billion Deadly Germs in a Single Drop of Water

Germs are so small that there may be as many as one billion, seven hundred million of them in a drop of water. And just a few of these tiny germs, if they get into your blood through a cut in your skin, may make you so sick you will be in bed for weeks—may cause the loss of a limb through blood poisoning—may even infect you with that most dreadful and fatal of diseases, lockjaw.

Just because you can see no dirt in a cut does not mean that it is clean. You cannot see germs. The only safe and sane thing to do, is to thoroughly wash every cut, no matter how small, with Liquid Borozone, to kill the germs, and then dust it with Borozone Powder, to hasten the healing. Liquid Borozone costs 30 cents, 60 cents, $1.20 and $1.50; Borozone Powder, 30 cents and 60 cents, and can be had at CORNER DRUG STORE be surprised to discover how little it takes to make them really happy.

Every now and then you'll run across a fellow who wants the lion's share of the goodies, but he is the exception. For the most part the kids are easy to please both as to the assortment of gifts and the cost of them.

When the letter is ready for the mailing, see that it is properly posted, and that old Santa gets the letter in time to make up his parcel. A little careful shopping at the stores will reveal just the things you have seen listed in these letters, and in this way give old Santa a helpful lift, and there won't be any delay when he comes round on Christmas Eve.

The next few weeks will be busy ones for the youngsters. This visit of Santa Claus is a very mysterious thing to them. They are going to ask a lot of questions, and while the answers may be evasive in the majority of cases, it will not lessen their interest or dampen their enthusiasm one bit. They lay great store by old St. Nick.

In some of the larger cities the poor of the community are looked after in a way by the members of the fire departments. Weeks before the hondays they send out a call for all damaged or discarded toys. They are gathered together at the stations and the firemen during their leisure hours occupy their time rehabilitating tin soldiers, wrecked automobiles, smashed railroad trains, and the like. After they have been put in ship shape and a new coat of bright paint added, they are ready for another trip to the hearts of the children and this time they will find places in the homes of the poor where otherwise, there would be very little Christmas joy among the children there.

DISCUSSES ELECTRICITY AND POWER DEVELOPMENT

P. T. LaGrone, district manager for the Mississippi Power & Light Co., gave a full discussion of electricity and its various phases and the development of the power industry during the past half century at the meeting of the Grenada Rotary Club Tuesday at noon. Mr. LaGrone presented the subject from many angles, calling attention to the vast improvement in electricity and its appliances since the invention fifty years ago of the incandescent lamp by Thomas A. Edison. He told of the progress being made by his company in its expansion program and how it was continually striving to improve its service. He went into a discussion of rates, endeavoring to explain why it appears sometimes in Grenada that the domestic consumer is favored above the industrial user of power. He said that when his company came into Mississippi it found a great many different rates being charged by the different plants it acquired and that its present system of charging was adopted only after an exhaustive study had been made by rate experts. The speaker stated that one of the greatest factors entering into the question of rate fixing is the investment and that a reasonable interest return must be figured in any rate schedule. Mr. LaGrone's address was very informative and his hearers learned much from what he had to say.

The club placed an order for some flowers to be sent to Rotarian Donald Sharp who is in a Memphis hospital recuperating from a surgical operation.

Guests at the luncheon were John L. Ware and C. H. Lindsley, of Jackson, R. L. McLeod, of Maxton, N. C., E. B. Myer, of Memphis, and W. R. Baker, L. C. Proby and John Worthington, of Grenada.

BIRTHDAY DINNER

On Thursday night of last week the following enjoyed the very gracious hospitality of Dr. and Mrs. H. T. Rogers at their delightful home on South Street at a birthday dinner given in honor of the splendid head of this household: Drs. J. S. Sharp, F. S. Hill, J. K. Avent and R. A. Clanton, and Messrs. R. C. Trusty, A. T. McElwrath, Thomas H. Meek, W. B. Hoffa, H. J. Ray, and O. F. Lawrence.

Mrs. Rogers is an adept at anything she undertakes. There is a sunshine and a radiance about her that never fails to bring gladness and comfort. Dr. Rogers is one of those analytical characters who is careful in all things. He is in no sense pretentious. He is just a dependable soul who can always be relied on. The dinner was all that one could expect in a home presided over by Mrs. Rogers.

Several hours were spent in enjoyable conversation and all departed for their homes at a rather late hour feeling that the best impulses of their souls had been quickened by this enjoyable function.

"CITIES ARE WHAT MEN MAKE THEM"

Cities are what men make them,
Wherever the cities may be;
Whether out on the desolate desert,
Or set by the surging sea.

Though they cleave to the breasts of mountains,
Or nestle by rivers broad;
Cities are what men make them
On the land that is given by God.

So take up your tasks as you find them,
Nor grumble at what you have not;
Be one of the men to make greater,
The place where you cast in your lot.

If the ocean should threaten to whelm you
Build a dyke that will laugh at its might;
Cities are what men make them,
Who are willing to labor and fight.

BREATHING MACHINES

A New York man who attempted suicide by gas, and was found apparently dead, was saved by artificial respiration after 38 hours of continuous effort by three squads of policemen working alternately, and the administration of 125 tanks of oxygen.

This is an impressive example of what can be done in such cases. But the work is hard on the rescuers.

Machines have been invented which take the place of the human life-savers and work more effectively. They were developed in Harvard University. Twelve New York hospitals are now to be equipped with them, the gift of business men in the gas and allied industries. There should soon be such equipment in every city.—Hattiesburg American.

FOR YOUNG LADIES ONLY

There is a young man in this town who occasionally wipes the dishes for his wife. The other day he refused, saying it was "not a man's work." The wife got the Bible and read from 2 Kings 21:13, "And will wipe Jerusalem as a man wipeth a dish, wiping it and turning it upside down." The young man is still doing the stunt. —Walker Herald.

THE BILLY GOAT

Mary had a Billy Goat
And he was black as jet;
He followed Mary 'round all day
And liked her, you just bet!

He went with her to school one day
The teacher kicked him out;
It made the children grin you know
To have the goat about.

But though old Whackem turned him out
Yet, he still lingered near.
He waited just outside the door
'Til Whackem did appear.

Then Billy ran to meet the man
He ran his level best,
And met him just behind you know
Down just below the vest.

Old Whackem turned a summersault
The Goat stood on his head,
And Mary laughed herself so sick
She had to go to bed.

THE RIVER OF LIFE

I stood on the bridge o'er the River of Life,
I stood on the bridge last night,
And saw all the horrors, and sorrows, and strife,
All hidden by day's bright light.

I trembled with fright, when I saw just below,
The wilds of the Universe!
The blindness of man civilization's foe,
The blindness of man the curse.

I shuddered with awe when I saw those I've known,
Pass thro' the phases of Life;
From childhood, thro' boyhood, to manhood they're grown,
In Maelstroms of human strife.

And the river flowed by, and those I have known
Passed on—thro' Canons of Time!
But!—I seemed to have heard, as a distant moan:
"The blindness of Man—the Crime!"

BOLL WEEVILS ABOUND

A. & M. College, Miss.—The recent cold wave has probably forced all Mississippi boll weevils into winter quarters, and according to the State Plant Board there were plenty of them and in good condition. With average winter weather this indicates that a fairly large crop of weevils may be expected to emerge next spring.

Observations by Plant Board inspectors at 18 different points in Mississippi indicate that weevils are considerably more abundant in most sections than at this time last year. Fewer weevils are reported in the delta and the northwestern corner of the State—at Cleveland, Senatobia, and Holly Springs,—and also at Meridian, while the remainder of the State reported more weevils than in the fall of 1928. In some localities there was very little growth after the leaves were stripped by worms and the weevils have been considerably reduced. However, the abundant rainfall during the past two months has caused cotton generally to make a good growth of new leaves and buds and weevils have not lacked food.

Killing frosts did not occur over most of the State until about November 20, and until that date weevils were still abundant in most fields where plenty of food remained. The Plant Board states that when weather and food conditions are such that weevils can feed until late in the fall before going into winter quarters a much larger percentage will live through the winter than when the food is destroyed early.

NEW CHRYSLER "70" ROYAL SEDAN, $1445 (Special equipment extra)

This IS Performance!

The new Multi-Range Chryslers have brought into existence a new kind of thrilling performance—faster car speed at SLOWER engine speed; amazing acceleration and smoothness; new ease and swiftness in hill-climbing—the result of many basic engineering improvements, including Down-Draft carburetion and the exclusive Multi-Range 4-speed transmission and gear-shift.

Never before have you known such ease of gear-shifting. Never before have you known such responsive performance. These new Chryslers radiate quality—both in outward design and interior trim. Bodies are longer and wider. Headroom is greater. And fitments by Cartier, famous New York and Paris jewelers, give a final touch of elegance. Truly, these are cars of and for today.

"Let's get up a Newspaper ad"

This is No. 2 of a series of ads depicting the various processes of advertising. In ad number one we decided on the subject of our advertising efforts. No. 3 will appear soon—watch for it.

"then our IDEA takes form"

AS OURS is to be fall opening announcement, it should occupy fairly large space. We'll make our layout about five columns in width by fifteen inches in depth, with an attractive border arrangement, letter in an attention compelling heading and a rough sketch of the garment itself. This sketch will be used later by an artist in working out the finished drawing.

Through our exclusive franchise for the Meyer Both General Newspaper Service The Sentinel is able to supply its advertisers with hundreds of striking layouts and hand-lettered headings to meet their exacting requirements. Use of this helpful service is yours for the asking.
